Walter Bedell Smith

turns the spotlight on

As General Eisenhower's Chief of Staff in World War II, Smith was in a unique position to observe the great strategic decisions that marked the turning points in the war in Europe. Now, ten years later, he offers an expert evaluation of those decisions, telling how they were made, how they were executed, and how they have affected the course of history. This is the top-level, inside story of —

THE INVASION GAMBLE

How and when the D-Day decision was made

NORMANDY TURNING POINT

The strategy of the historic breakthrough

THE BATTLE OF THE BULGE

The true story of a famous engagement

VICTORY WEST OF THE RHINE

The dispersed offensive and Remagen Bridge

ENCIRCLEMENT OF THE RUHR

The pincer movement that baffled the enemy

THE ONLY WAY IT COULD END

The final defeat of Hitler's armies
